The Board of Directors will recognize and honor individuals who provide clear, consistent and convincing evidence of their ability to foster James A. Kelly's legacy of accomplished teaching with an award that will be given in his name. In addition to his founding role in NBPTS, his legacy includes:

- A deep-seated belief in the inherent right of all children to a quality education;
- A professional life dedicated to improving education for teachers and their students;
- Passionate commitment to improving teaching and learning in America;
- Unwavering dedication to the professional integrity and competence of teachers;
- Visionary and boundless energy, eternal optimism, and expert leadership;
- An innate capacity to inspire collaboration and mobilize support that enabled unparalleled achievements in the history of American education reform;
- Clear vision coupled with steadfast commitment and fierce determination which has led to historic milestones in American education and meaningful impact on teaching and learning.

The Nominating Committee encourages the nomination of candidates with diversity, classroom teachers, and leaders in public policy, higher education, business, and non-profit organizations.
